County to adopt 'leash law'

The pesky problem of roaming dogs in Hancock county may soon be collared, but the proposed ordinance may lack bite in Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

The Mississippi Legislature passed and Governor Kirk Fordice signed into law a bill allowing the County Board of Supervisors to adopt a so-called "leash law." The new law permits the county to approve an ordinance that will not be binding county-wide.

Clyde Taylor, an animal abuse investigator and the vice-president of the Humane Society, says he would like to see the ordinance cover the area south of Interstate 10 extending to the beach.

However, the municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland currently have existing "leash laws" and board attorney Gerald Gex said the county ordinance may not override city ordinances.

"In my opinion, I don't feel like legally the board can counteract municipalities on this," Gex said.

At its meeting Monday, the board voted to schedule a public hearing on the matter for May 1 at 10 a.m. Gex said he hopes officials from Bay St. Louis and Waveland attend so a "uniform law" can be passed, a sentiment Taylor said he shares.

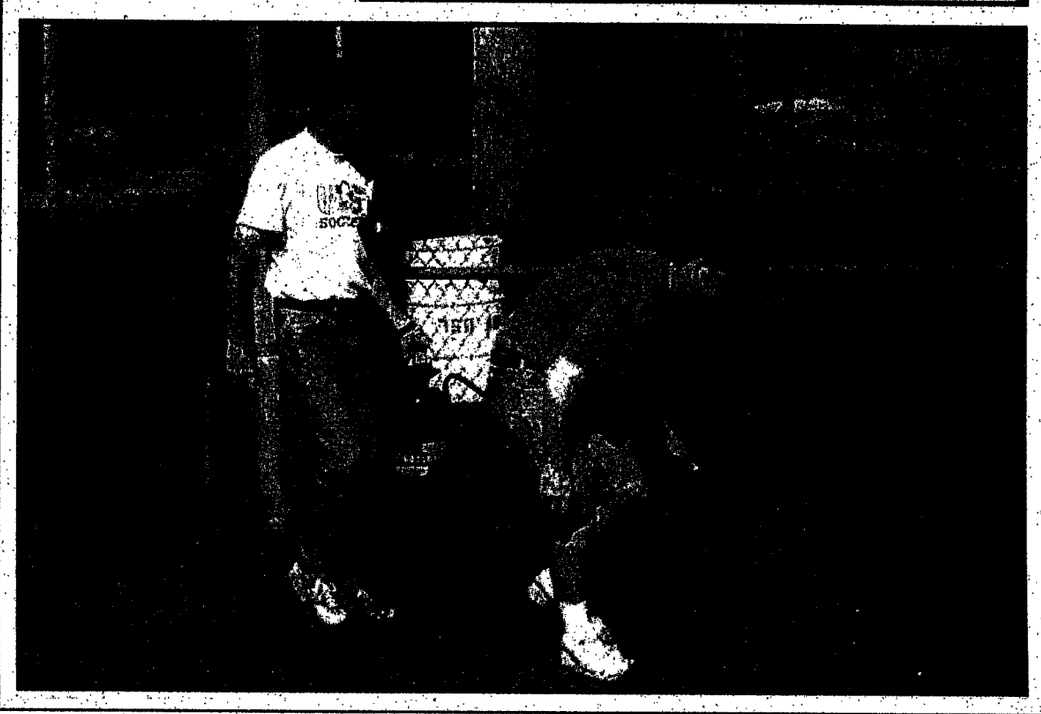

Taylor called the two cities'

As of last weekend, final touches on the field were being applied by several volunteers, including (below), Ricky Bourgeois (right) and Andy Kivlan. A parade will begin at 9 a.m. at the Jitney Jungle parking lot and end at the field. The first game is scheduled for 10 a.m. between the Lakeshore Boosters and the Bay Rotary Club. Waveland flood premiums reduced

BY RICHARD MEEK

Stricter building regulations and better code enforcement enacted over the past two years will mean a 10 percent reduction in flood insurance premium for Waveland residents, city official Keith Mitchell said.

Mitchell said Waveland is one of only seven cities in Mississippi to qualify for the rate reduction. He said the city has adhered to strict guidelines set forth in the Community Rating Service, which is governed by the NFIP, a national flood insurance agency.

"Certain requirements must be met," Mitchell said. "When you go above and beyond (NBIFP) says you are a reduced risk."

Mitchell said the regulations include height requirements, improved standards for new construction, higher elevation and a standard operating procedure for maintaining flooding and natural flow of water.

The announcement of the premium reduction was made at the Waveland Board of Alderman meeting on Monday. The board also approved plans for Phase Two of the Waters Edge Subdivision and the planned, seven-lot Kare Subdivision.

Approval allows Waters Edge developer Derek Breerwood to sell lots or begin construction on Adam's Lane.

Easter party, hunt Saturday

The Easter Party for children in Bay St. Louis has been rescheduled for Saturday, April 8, Janet Aime, co-chairman said.

An Easter Egg Hunt has also been scheduled at Diamondhead Country Club for Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139, with the cooperation of the City of Bay St. Louis, is sponsoring the Children's Easter Party for children ages 1-9 at City Park (behind the old City Hall) on Saturday, April 8 from 2-4 p.m.

There will be an Easter egg hunt, games prizes, music and refreshments, along with the appearance of some very special guests.

City photographer Jim Loiacano will be on hand to take a picture of each child with special guests.

Juvenile center may be in county's future

BY RICHARD MEEK

Hancock County may soon have a juvenile detention center of its own, especially if Harrison County is unwilling to share space in its new multi-million dollar facility.

The feasibility of such an ambitious project was discussed by the County Board of Supervisors at its meeting Monday. Board President Mike Ladner said the county was "better off doing something on our own."

Hancock Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said his department may be able to contribute up to $200,000 to the project.. The funds would come from money seized in a drug raid several years ago.

Peterson added that the money could only be released by court order. When the money was seized, restrictions were instituted where the Sheriff's Department was only able to use the interest on the principal to buy new squad cars.

Harrison County is under court order to build a new detention center, at an approximate cost of $4 million. However, Hancock County officials said Harrison County officials appear to be reluctant to share space.

According to Peterson, the reason is money. Hancock County is applying to the state for a grant of $45,000, which would go toward construction of a new facility. The county could also apply jointly with Harrison County for the same amount and the money would be shared with Harrison.

"(Harrison County) does no want to go in with us," Peterson said. "I can understand that. They will spend $4 million and we will occupy 30 percent of the space by putting up $45,000."

Ladner said the cost charged to Hancock County would be "$75 to $100 per day" by Harrison County.

Board member Robert Peterson said the board should determine the "cheapest way to go. Even if we pay $200 a day (for juveniles) to be housed elsewhere, it would still be the cheapest way to go".

Currently, Peterson said juvenile detainees are housed in the Pearl River County facility at no charge. He said the arrangement is reciprocal between the counties "since we house their adult inmates in our jail."

The board also heard complaints from Garland Toomer, a resident of Pensacola, FL, about deteriorating conditions at Pearlington Cemetery. He said several graves have no tombstones, others are sinking into the ground, but added the "biggest and most pressing problem is that people are burying people on top of other people."

"Someone can go to the cemetery, pick out a site, dig a hole and bury a person," said Toomer, who has relatives buried in the cemetery.

"People are disturbing and

May 10 'hurricane' set for Gulf Coast

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hurricane Jennifer is headed in from the Gulf. Sort of.

Although this one is only a dry run exercise set for May 10, expect massive damage if one like it really hits: casinos torn asunder; roadways peeled back like banana skins; homes leveled. Debris, and perhaps bodies, everywhere afloat. Over in Pearlington, all the roads are flooded and residents are "trapped."

That was the scenario outlined Monday by Hancock County Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin to area police and emergency personnel, city and county officials, and representatives of area businesses and industry.

It is not a question of whether it will happen, said Boudin, but of "when."

Boudin is spearheading the Hancock County portion of a five-state drill in which officials will follow procedures in their existing hurricane preparedness plans.

He's trying to get as many agencies and businesses as possible to join in the exercise, which will be monitored and evaluated by hurricane-experienced officials from Florida.

Boudin addressed a large crowd Monday on the upcoming exercise, showing slides taken in the aftermath of 1969's Hurricane Camille. While many in the audience were old enough to have lived through Camille, said Boudin, the new casino industry has brought many residents to the Coast who have never experienced any hurricane.

The practice drill will feature a tropical storm that develops in the Carribean and finds its way into the Gulf. Once the National Hurricane Center issues an official "warning" of the storm's upgrade and path, area officials are supposed to swing into full alert and practice what they would do in such a case.

Ultimately, the practice hurricane passes directly over New Orleans. Hancock County is inundated with water, and punished by high winds.

Boudin is urging citizens to participate in the frill --by taking the time to define what

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Your time's up, God!

When we pile out of bed in the morning with a blurry, hurried sign of the cross, a rushed word of thanks to you, and a brief dedication of the day to you, your time is up, God.

We do have to get the day rolling, you know. There are important things to do. So, God, we know you will not take it amiss if we hasten on to hit the floor running and move ahead to the many and varied tasks of the day.

Your name at least is on our mind when one family member yells to another who is tarrying in the bath room: "God, when are you going to come out of there?"

Our family members may or may not congregate at the breakfast table and give thanks to you, God. In any case, between raw news about international intrigues and the foibles of the super rich and famous, your time's up God.

Than it's off to work for those of us who are not too advanced in years, physically able and fortunate enough to have a job. Your time's up till the workday is over, God. You'll have to excuse us if we don't mention you in the marketplace.

Well, in such a way that nobody knows we're praying, we may have a few seconds to say thanks to you before downing lunch or whatever morsel we have to calm our hunger. But then it's back to work, and your time's up, God.

A good session of aerobics is often the next order of the day. It's your will, God, that we do what is best for our physical health. So we're sure you don't mind if our attention is not on you during our exercise routines.

Naturally, after work and aerobics, we are too tired to talk to you, God, or to read your holy book. We're sure you understand that it takes quite some time to wind down after a grueling day of toil. Your time's up until later in the day.

Oh, there's the local and national news on TV, and a show or two which are a must for us. All this should be almost mandatory for a reasonable level of living. Then there's dinner when we usually take a few moments to thank you, God.

Then your time's up until we struggle through a maze of TV programs and sundry household chores which seize our undivided attention. Shortly before turning in, we can afford to give you a moment, Lord. Then your time is up for the day.

So much for the events of an average day, God. On Sunday we acknowledge your special day. That is when we dedicate a whole hour to you, or at least 45 minutes. Then your time is up, God. After all, it is the day of rest.

Once in a while, we even make ourselves feel good by going back to church Sunday afternoon for a gospel musical or for some special program involving interesting guests. After that, God, your time is up until the next Sunday.

On rare occasions, God, maybe once a year, a few of us show our attention to you by attending a retreat, although our generosity is questionable where such an exercise is for our own benefit. Anyway, your time is up after that.

Of course, we give you more time during special seasons of grace, such as Lent and Advent. We devote ourselves to more contact with you in prayer, to more meditation, to works of mercy, to fasting and abstinence. Your time's up after that.

Yes, God, we do need to improve the ratio of time between worldly things and you, which must be about 70 to 1.

Hancock escapee remains at large

BY RICHARD MEEK

Hancock Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said the county's first jail break since 1987 was the result of "human error."

Four inmates escaped early Sunday morning by cutting bars out of window in a small second floor storage room, scaling the wall and using a storage shed to jump the fence.

Gulfport police captured three of the inmates, Emillo Sanchez Rodriguez, 34; Jorge Machado Sanchez, 41; and Felipe Rodriguez, 34; by 9:30 a.m. Sunday. A fourth escapee, Damian Torres Valdez, remained at large Wednesday.

Peterson said he believes Valdez is in the Gulfport area, where he has relatives.

Peterson added that his office is continuing to investigate the escape. It was the first escape since the current jail opened in 1987.

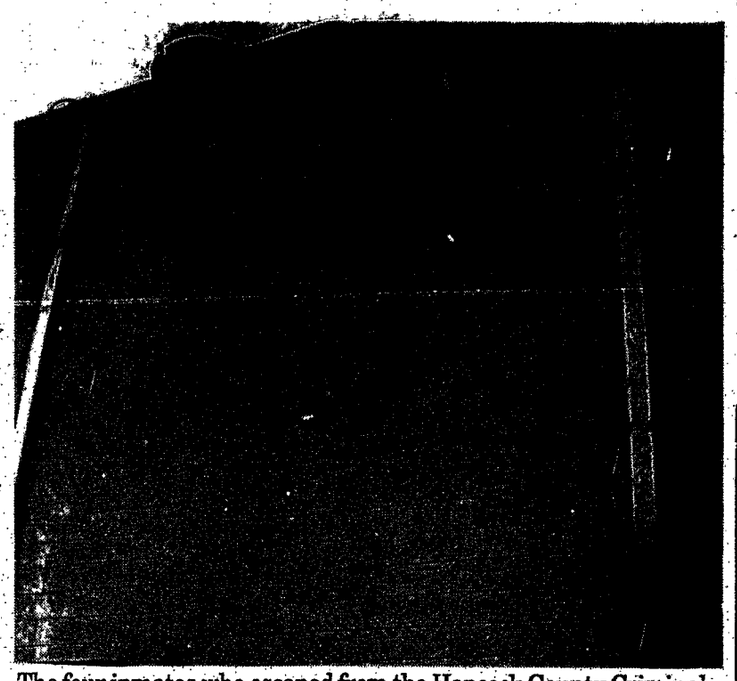

"I feel like (the escape) was a pre-planned thing," Peterson said. "They had been working on it a while."

"We still have no conclusion as to why (the inmates) were in the room they were using," the sheriff added. "Anytime there is an escape, it is human error. We are looking at what happened."

Valdez, who is considered dangerous, is 39 years old, 6-foot-1, and weighs 200 pounds. He has black hair, brown eyes, and tatoos covering his body.

The sheriff's department said he has been known to use 50 aliases. Valdez's prior arrests include charges of armed robbery, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

All four are inmates of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Peterson said the county regularly houses INS prisoners.

The four inmates who escaped from the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility cut bars in a small window and broke out a vent (above). They scaled down the wall by using sheets that were tied together, and then used a storage shed to help them jump over the back fence. One of the inmates, Damian Torres Valdez, remains at large. Depot asbestos removal required

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials learned Tuesday they have a $25,000 asbestos problem to deal with before the city's depot restoration project can begin in earnest.

During a meeting that lasted past 10 p.m., City Council also heard impassioned pleas for money to help two youth programs, but the programs' sponsors left almost empty handed.

In the depot matter, project architect Kevin Fitzpatrick said study of the building determined that some 4,000 square feet of suspended plaster ceiling will have to be removed to deal with asbestos on old steam piping in the 1928 structure.

He suggested the city may want to have that work done under an independent contract before work begins on restoring the historic building. Otherwise, said Fitzpatrick, the city may not attract as many bids from restoration contractors as desired -- or the cost may be unrealistically escalated.

The city has a major federal grant to restore the structure. But Fitzpatrick said officials have agreed to pay for 80 percent of the asbestos removal project as well, if it is included in the primary bid package.

If the city lets a separate contract for asbestos removal, he said, the city would have to foot the bill independently of the federal grant. Still, he said, it might be worth the cost to improve the number and quality of bids received on the restoration project.

Fitzpatrick was told to request that project officials to reconsider their position on paying for the asbestos removal project, helping the city pay to have the substance removed in a separate contract.

In related matters, Fitzpatrick showed council detailed drawings of the project, including interior and exterior renovations, landscaping and some additional parking facilities.

The structure's first story will be a multi-purpose area, available as a community center that may be rented for various functions. The second story will be rebuilt to accommodate the L.W. Anderson Genealogical Library.

Plans for the building include new restrooms, a kitchen facility and elevator, a reading room and library area. A small bridge-type ramp will serve as access for the handicapped.

Fitzpatrick said construction will take a minimum of 180 days.

The pleas for funding came from representatives of Hope Haven and Save Our Children, unrelated volunteer organizations which are trying to establish facilities for youth.

Hope Haven volunteers are raising money privately to build a shelter for abused, neglected or abandoned children. With no in-county facility to accept such children on a temporary basis, and a shortage of foster homes, area social workers have to find accommodations in other counties, council was told.

"They are already victims. Then they are victims again," said Hope Haven volunteer Bobbie Barr of children who are shuffled off to outlying areas for shelter.

Council member James J. Rutherford drew applause from the audience when he made motions to support a local and private bill that will allow the city to donate money to the group, and to write a letter of support for the organization to receive funding through United Way.

"I agree that we shouldn't be sending our kids out of the county to be placed with someone else," said Rutherford. "I think we owe our kids more than that."

How much, if any, money the city actually donates to the cause, however, remained uncertain. Council agreed to discuss the matter further at a workshop later this month.

That was the same action it took concerning funding for Save Our Children, a volunteer group that operates a community center type facility for youths.

The group wants the city to hire a full-time director for the center. Sherry Ponder, chairman of the group, said Save Our Children has been awarded $3,000 per year from United Way, but that money can't be used for personnel.

Council was reminded that the city set aside $15,000 in its fiscal 1995 budget to hire an additional police officer in the community relations field -- in part to help Save Our Children Center's operation.

Mayor Eddie Favre said that officer, however, is to perform more of a custodial duty than direction for the center, by helping open and close the center and providing a police presence. In addition, the officer is assigned to similar duties with the newly-refurbished city gymnasium.

There has been some apparent misunderstanding about the $15,000, however.

Save Our Children member Geraldine Lang said the program often has no services from a police officer -- and more is needed than someone to be the "keeper of the keys" to the center on Necaise Street.

"That $15,000 is not giving us anything to work with," said Lang. "We're just asking for more than that."

Council president Charles Scianna terminated a verbal exchange between Lang and Favre at 9 a.m., saying by law council had to adjourn at 9:30 p.m.

Council suspended that law, however, and handled several agenda items before going into executive session near 10 p.m. to discuss "potential" litigation and a pending legal action.

New building in Bay grant plans

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Some $161,000 in cash and services were pledged Tuesday by Bay St. Louis city officials for a new building to house area senior citizens' programs.

The action by Bay St. Louis City Council represented a major turn in plans for how to relocate those programs from their existing quarters behind the police department and in old City Hall.

Last month, the city had hopes of buying a building off Dunbar Avenue and renovating it to accommodate the seniors' programs.

Negotiations for the property, however, didn't put that property within the city's grasp, and there were some concerns about forcing elderly drivers to negotiate the dangers of Highway 90 to access the property.

Tuesday, Mayor Eddie Favre got council's permission to pledge $96,000 in cash and $65,000 in "in-kind" services to build a new building for the seniors' programs. The city's money is offered as a 100 percent match for a federal Community Development Block Grant the city hopes to receive.

Favre said negotiations to option a tract off St. Francis Street for the new building are underway. If the city wins the grant, he said officials may ask for additional help from Hancock County and Waveland, since the programs at issue serve all areas in the county.

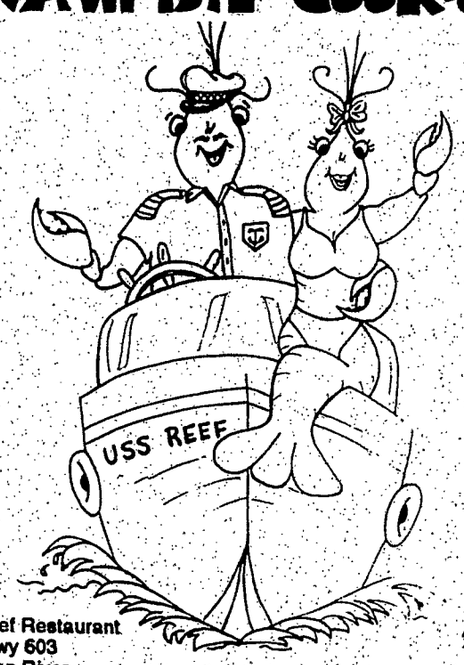

Officials hope to renovate the police and fire department complex, including a former school structure that houses seniors' programs, to expand and improve city offices.

The RSVP program that operates in the old City Hall on Second Street would be relocated to the new building, city officials say. That would open City Hall to a restoration project, and possible use as a tourism center and comfort station, officials say.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

On my way to work Tuesday morning I heard the weather forecast on a New Orleans station.

The report said 100% chance of rain for the day and 90% chance for Tuesday night.

It seems we cannot get a three-day stretch without rain.

Wednesday morning was no different from Tuesday's report with a 100% chance of rain.

In the month of March a record was set for the amount of rain that month along the Coast.

Who knows, April may follow suit.

The Easter Bunny's appearance in Bay St. Louis was delayed last week due to weather conditions.

The bunny is scheduled now Saturday for children ages 1-9 and is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139, with cooperation of the City of Bay St. Louis.

The Children's Easter Party will be Saturday from 2-4 p.m. at the City Hall Park next to the old Bay St. Louis City Hall, South Second Street.

There will be an Easter egg hunt, games, prizes, music and refreshments.

Special guests will be Peter and Susie Cotton Tail, Mickey Mouse, McGruff the Crime Fighting Dog and others.

It sounds like it is going to be a good time for the youngsters Saturday.

It seems comfort stations are in the making for Washington Street in Bay St. Louis and Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

This is all part of the sandbeach improvements which are really needed.

Tourism is very important for the economy of our community, and comfort stations are really necessary to add to our beautiful beaches.

The comfort stations are also to include some 75 parking spaces, which are also a concern of many.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors last week received initial plans from Engineer William Mitchell for the two proposed comfort stations.

I am glad to see the comfort stations closer to reality for our beaches.

Don't forget the Diamondhead Spring Merchants Fair scheduled for Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Some 30 merchants from Diamondhead will be participating in the special sale sponsored by the Diamondhead Business & Professional Association.

There will be several prizes, a super-sized space walk for the kids, pony rides, carnival skill games, etc.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

By State Senator Bill Johnson

Last week of regular session very busy

The 1995 Legislative Session ended Sunday, April 2; however, the session was extended 30 days on paper due to a delay in the approval of House Bill 1676, which is the appropriation bill that provides funding for the Department of Human Services.

Due to a rule that appropriation bills cannot be passed during the last five days of the session, the Legislature had to extend the regular 90-day session to reach final approval on all budget items.

On Saturday, the Senate adopted a sine die resolution (the resolution to adjourn) with a provision to return to Jackson Apr. 10, should the Governor veto any appropriation, revenue or general bill affecting teacher compensation or expenditures for the support of public education.

On Thursday, the Senate passed a resolution allowing select Senate and House members to return to conference to work out a compromise on the future of the Department of Human Services.

On Friday, the Senate voted 32-20 to fund the state agency for fiscal year 1996. The dilemma for the Senate had been whether to allow continued privatization of child support collections in Hinds and Warren counties and for how long.

The compromise reached would allow the contract to Maximus, the private agency presently collecting child support in Hinds and Warren counties, to continue should the agency agree to being paid a fee of $400,000 rather than the current $550,000 per month.

Should Maximus not agree to the reduced monthly fee, the contract would be open to other companies to bid for and handle during fiscal year 1996.

Much time was also spent on the floor this week giving approval to final versions of general bills and constitutional amendments.

Legislators voted in favor of the conference report for Senate Bill 2791 which revises the minimum program teacher salaries. The average increase of pay for teachers would be $1,158. All teachers would be paid a salary commensurate with their highest level of certification.

The bill also includes a pay increase for teacher assistants. The legislation will take effect July 1, 1995, if it is signed by the Governor.

Final approval was given to numerous conference reports, some of which addressed issues including: the authorization of emergency vehicles to use alternating flashing headlights; making it unlawful for a non-custodial parent to hold children out of state without a court order;

Revision of the registration of sex offenders and the provision for community notification; requiring inmates to pay non-emergency medical expenses;

Provision for forfeiture of motor vehicles involved in drive-by shootings or bombings by juveniles; prohibition of operating a motorboat while intoxicated;

Revision of DUI standards; revise domestic abuse laws; abolishing the parole board and requiring an inmate to serve 85% of his designated sentence;

Revise the procedures for accepotance of the State Employees' Health Plan; and revising the bag limit on bucks and does and requiring tags for buck deer.

The Governor signed Senate Bill 2065 which provides for a refund on the amount of state income taxes paid on federal retirement benefits during calendar years 1985-1989 for retirees who did not file amended tax returns during those years.

Federal retirees must file claims prior to July 1, 1995 with the State Tax Commission.

Senate Bill 2172 was also signed into law by the Governor to establish the Mississippi Resident Tuition Assistance Program and help put a college education within the reach of thousands of Mississippi students.

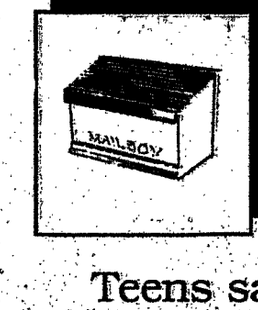

The new law will offer tuition grants to Mississippians who want to attend state colleges and universities but cannot get some federal tuition assistance.

Some other bills receiving approval from the Governor this week include: Senate Bill 2106 — making a person offering a bribe subject to the same punishment as the person accepting the bribe; Senate Bill 3107 — approving the acquisition of land for the Eudora Welty Writing Center;

And Senate Bill 2994 — requiring a driver to slow his speed at certain railroad crossings.

A bill for the repealer on the septic tank law has died leaving the Health Department without permission to administer regulations — an issue that has had an effect on Hancock County.

It has been a pleasure serving the district as your Senator during the last term of office, and I look forward to continuing my service to you in 1996.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Teens say they need places to go and things to do

Dear Editor:

We think that we speak for most of the teenagers in Hancock County when we say that we do not think that there are enough facilities for teens to hang out in.

We cannot hang out at the shopping center on Friday and Saturday nights because there are so many people there.

If we are not eating, the police kick us out. Some of us cannot afford to eat at fast food outlets, and we would like to sit with our friends until they finish eating.

We don't think that this is very fair.

To bring up another issue — we can't have bonfires on the beach.

In the Bay, you can have bonfires, but you need a permit.

In Waveland, you can only have a bonfire at Buccaneer Park, but there is barely any beach to have one on.

Teenagers like to be able to party on the beach, because it is romantic and fun.

Something else that really bothers us is the fact that, at 16 years old, we cannot go to "R" rated movies. At home during prime time, "R" rated movies are shown on a regular basis.

Most of the time, the only thing we have to do on Friday and Saturday nights is to pile into cars and just drive around.

The point of this letter is not to drop our problems on you, but to bring up the fact that there are not any places for us to go and have fun.

We hope that many city officials in the Bay-Waveland area and Hancock County will read this letter and perhaps build a bowling alley or dance club for teens.

Respectfully yours,
Missy Clark, Jennifer Mehan, Lulie Phillips, Jennifer Poillion and many other bored teenagers in

PTO members concerned about school conditions

To the Editor:

Let's address some problems at a Bay St. Louis elementary school and parental involvement via the school's PTO.

North Bay Elementary School has dilapidated rest room facilities, cramped teaching environments, overcrowded class rooms, an undersized cafeteria, hazardous play ground conditions, deteriorated roofing, and experiences rain-induced flooding.

For example, it has taken the school maintenance department seven months since the start of the school year to repair the rest room facilities at North Bay.

These repairs were addressed only after a few die-hard parents got involved and took their concerns to the school board, otherwise it is quite possible the bathrooms would still be broken.

This year alone at least two children have suffered injuries on the school playground due to hazardous obstacles.

These injuries required emergency hospital treatment. Overcrowding exists in all three first grade classrooms.

Classroom size is mandated at 27 students; these classes are presently at 30 students and North Bay was denied an exemption in January from the Mississippi state Board of Education concerning student class size.

Children must wade though several inches of water covering the sidewalk during a rain shower on his or her way to and from the cafeteria. These are but a few of the problems that exist.

A small but very active North Bay PTO core group has been addressing many of the above issues and elevating them to the school board.

But we need more parental involvement.

The PTO at North Bay is scheduled to meet the first Monday of every month at 5:30 p.m. while school is in session. School board meetings are conducted the second Monday of every month at 7 p.m.

Your child's educational environment depends upon parental involvement.

Sincerely,
Debra Rushing

Waveland residents object to film 'The Priests'

Dear Editor,

Because of the recent release of the film, "The Priests" by Miramax Films, a subsidiary of the Disney Co., we are protesting against this despicable insult to our Catholic faith, its good priests and bishops, and therefore, to us personally.

We would like to urge all readers to join in a boycott of everything coming out of the Disney Co., including "World on Ice" at the Coliseum in Biloxi, all Disney theme park reservations, TV channel subscriptions, video tapes, toys, books, etc. until the producer makes a public apology and withdraws the film.

Where are Mom and Dad?

To the Editor:

For the past year, I've been fortunate enough to be able to go to some of our junior high and high schools.

I've talked to students on subjects of alcohol, drugs and self-esteem. Anything in general they wanted to talk about.

I've found out that some of our children are hurting for love and understanding. In some cases they come from a single-parent family, or maybe Mom and Dad both work to make ends meet to be able to give their children a little more.

I see children who are just looking for a kind word from their parents, a little praise, even if that got a C instead of an A because they really tried to get a good grade.

Our teachers are overworked and underpaid. Some of them I've worked with go the extra mile in trying to not only be a teacher, but a loving parent to these students as well. They see the hurt as I do in some of these children's eyes.

Remember our children are our future. To have a better world, we as adults need to become better people as well for the sake of our children.

Help me to help them.

Sincerely,
Nick A. Kingston

Drier future for Gulfview students

BY TRACI BONNEY

If all goes as expected, Gulfview Elementary School may dry up.

The Hancock County School Board voted unanimously Monday to accept two proposals from K.E.L. Construction for additions to that company's current contract for work at the elementary school on a four-classroom addition and the media center. The accepted proposals will constitute a change order in the contract and will authorize the construction company to address drainage problems at the school.

Bob Perry and Ken Ladner addressed the board and made the proposals for installation of a catch basin and drain pipes that will drain water away from the school building and convey it to the existing drainage ditches, as well as another ditch Perry said the county plans to dig. In making the proposal, Perry showed the board members his mud-caked black tennis shoes and told them he had been at the school earlier in the day to evaluate the problem.

"It's like a crawfish pond out there," he said.

Perry and Ladner explained that the pipes and basin will drain away standing water on the property and help lower the water table, which will alleviate flooding problems. The two men emphasized that if the drainage problem is not addressed, the school's playground will continue to be useless, and the problems with the building flooding won't improve.

Proposals were accepted with a minimum of discussion. Lennette Necaise asked about the funds for the two proposals, which come to about $25,000. She was told that the funds already are in place as part of the Gulfview building project.

Later in the meeting, when the board voted on consent agenda items, two motions passed unanimously to pay K.E.L. $34,049 for the four-classroom addition and $25,799 for the media center. These are the eighth payment on the addition and the third payment on the media center.

In a related matter, Perry told the board the roof job on the Gulfview gym should be finished this week. He said some of the seams had to be redone, and problems with water leaking in through the vents had been addressed.

When board attorney Steve Benvenutti reminded the school board trustees that they had voted to terminate the roofing contract on March 31 if it were not finished, and the project had gone four days past deadline, the board voted (at Benvenutti's recommendation) to extend the roofing contract since the job was almost done.

During approval of consent agenda items, the board tabled a motion to approve final payment of $2,200 to Dillon Construction for the roofing project, because the architect was supposed to have sent the board a letter recommending final payment, but had not done so yet.

The only other address to the board in open meeting was that of Mike Hailey, athletic director for the Hancock County School District. He told the board he'd been doing some evaluations of the district's athletic program, and he saw some areas of major concern.

"We have doubled the number of students in our athletic department over the last year," he said. "The program has really taken off."

As a result, the program will need more equipment and uniforms for football and other sports team members. Hailey said the existing equipment also will have to be maintained.

"Periodically, we have to send our helmets off to be checked, to make sure they're in good condition. That's according to state regulations. We need to have the funds to be able to do that.

"We live on our gate (the amount taken in ticket sales at sports events). I know of only one of two other schools on the Coast that do that, and it doesn't give us room to plan any of our expenditures.

"Now, I want to emphasize that we have gotten good support form the school district and the booster club. Support from the district, the parents, everybody, has been fantastic. But we're going to have some needs next year that will have to be addressed."

Hailey said another concern is the size of the coaching staff.

"We have eight coaches on staff right now. That's for all sports, not just football. A typical school district our size will have an average of 14 coaches; that's straight from the Division 8 handbook.

"We've been able to manage well so far, but our junior high program is really taking off. We had who knows how many seventh graders go out for football this year."

Hailey expressed concern that the time the coaches have to work with students during and after school is not adequate either. He explained that the coaching staff doesn't have much after-school time to drill the players, and about half of their physical education class time is consumed with getting the students dressed out for practice and getting them ready for their next class afterward. He said it leaves the coaches and students only about half an hour to practice.

Other needs Hailey brought to the board's attention dealt with storage facilities for track equipment; the need to make bleachers at the football stadium handicapped accessible and to improve the parking situation at the stadium for handicapped and other motorists; and a need to improve security at games by minimizing contact between competing teams and their fans before and after the game.

Board president Cheryl Bennett asked Hailey to give the board a needs list in order of greatest priority and a proposal to phase in some of the solutions to the problems he mentioned. Board member Tony Caston offered to work with Hailey in forming a committee of athletic and band department staff, booster club members and others so that the needs could be addressed. Caston said, "If we all pool our resources and divide up the problems equally, maybe we can make the solutions flow more smoothly."

Hailey agreed to work with Caston in creating a committee. "I'll do anything I can to help in tackling these needs," Hailey stated.

After the board heard from Hailey, Perry and Ladner, the trustees voted to enter executive session for student hearings and to discuss a recommendation for termination of an employee's position.

Upon re-entering open session some half hour later, the board reported that it had not approved the recommendation for termination, and the employee, a teacher, was reinstated to the classroom.

The board did approve several student expulsions, but withheld approval on some because the students in question are being served in an after-school program, according to Bennett.

The trustees approved 23 items on the consent agenda, including several employment recommendations; a number of financial matters dealing with salaries and contractor payments; a bid for a sound lectern, garage doors and four stainless steel sinks; activity fund statements, check claims, dockets, and the travel agenda; a field trip April 13 to the Audubon Zoo in New Orleans for Ann Wainwright and six special education pre-kindergarten students; an out-of-district student's application to attend school in the Hancock district for the rest of the school year; a special diet policy for the district's school lunch program; and a recreational lease of 16th Section land to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for a softball field at Leetown.

On the consent agenda, one item was withdrawn, and another (the previously mentioned roofing payment) was tabled.

The board set its next meeting for Wednesday, April 12 at 4:30 p.m.

Storm uproots tree

The heavy thunderstorms ripping through the area recently uprooted a tree at a vacant house in Waveland. The tree trunk blocked access to the house, and several limbs were resting on the roof. According to the National Weather Service, March was one of the wettest on record. (Echo staff photo by Richard Meek)

Boy Scouts take honors at Spring Camporee

Special to the Echo

Boy Scouts from Troop 208 in Bay St. Louis, sponsored by American Legion Post 139, accompanied by Webelos from Pack 220, were selected for first-place honors as the outstanding troop and outstanding patrol at the recently held Cypress District Spring Camporee at Camp Villere, Slidell.

More than 600 Scouts and Scouters attended the annual camporee for Cub and Boy Scouts. The Cypress District is composed of Scouts and Cubs from throughout St. Tammany Parish and Hancock County.

The camporee provided the Scouts and Cubs an opportunity to sharpen their outdoor skills. The Cubs received basic instructions in the outdoor skills, and the Scouts were tested in their knowledge of outdoor skills and other scouting subjects.

The Scouts were required to perform tasks that tested their knowledge of land navigation, using the map and compass, field cooking, fire making, first aid and backpacking techniques.

They were also graded in the areas of leadership, working as a patrol or team, communications skills, emergency preparedness and scouting spirit.

The Scouts endured hot, humid weather, swampy terrain, dense with briars and snakes, blisters and mosquitoes that were in abundance after dark.

However it all seemed worth it to the boys at the camporee campfire held late in the evening of the second day when Pack 220 had seven Webelos "cross over" in a ceremony that graduates them into being accepted as Boy Scouts.

At the honors ceremony on closing day the outstanding Troop and Outstanding Patrol awards were announced.

Troop 208, whose Scouts attended the 1994 Camporee as Cubs, and are still in their first year as Boy Scouts, shared first place honors as the Outstanding Troop and Outstanding Patrol with Troop 246 of Slidell.

Scouts and Webelos sharing the honors for Hancock County were Stephen Cook, Chris Blanchard, Grayson Timidaiski, Tommy Minniece, Chris Clayton, Cole Lafontaine and Michael Babb, who were the Scouts from Troop 208.

Attending from Pack 220 were Cherubin Alcalen, Luke Frickey, Peter Murphy, Jonathan Reisch, Eddie Renz III, Earl Richard, Eric Stevens and Ryan Williams.

Adult leaders lending a guiding hand to the activities were Scoutmaster Henry J. Cook III, and Assistant Scoutmasters Jerry Willett and James Timidaiski.

Pack 220 leaders were Cubmaster Larry Clayton and Den Leaders Lance Frickey, Wade Stevens and Jeff Reisch.

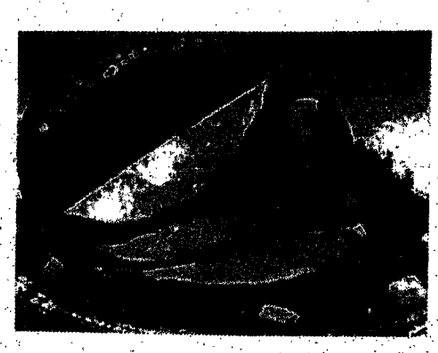

All of the boys and their leaders were proud of the awards, with each Scout and Webelo receiving a Scouting Coin for personal recognition as being members of the outstanding patrol, and the troop award was a Scout bow-saw, which will probably see much service on future campouts.

Scoutmaster Henry Cook stated the troop meets weekly and camps out or has outdoor trips on a monthly basis to keep the boys' skill honed and to teach new skills.

Cook takes great pride in the progress his Scouts have made in their first year and fully believes in the Scouting concept for developing boys through the Scouting laws and Scout Oath, which incorporates duty, honor, country and God in the total Scouting Creed.

Any boys interested in joining the troop should contact the Scoutmaster at 467-6515.

Stabbing victim remains at HMC

BY RICHARD MEEK

A 61-year-old Bay St. Louis cab driver remained in stable condition Wednesday at Hancock Medical Center after being stabbed Saturday.

Frank Hess was stabbed at approximately 12:43 a.m. Saturday in the 700 block of Morris Street in Waveland. One hour later, Michael L. Moody of 702 Morris St. was arrested at The Ryhthm lounge in Waveland and charged with aggravated assault in connection with the stabbing.

A $25,000 bond was set. As of Wednesday, Moody remained in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility. An April 20 court date has been set.

Hess picked up Moody for a fare, and apparently requested payment in advance, a Waveland Police Department spokesman said. Moody refused, and allegedly became upset and stabbed Hess, who drove away from the scene, sources said.

Kare Subdivision, being developed by Basil Kennedy, is on Garden Lane.

In other matters, the Aldermen:

—Presented a plaque to Bay High School student and Waveland resident Amanda Wilcox in recognition of her winning the Voice of Democracy competition sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The competition involved students from the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

—Agreed to write a letter of support for Hope Haven. The Alderman took under advisement Hope Haven's request for $250 a month for Oct.-Dec.

—Ratified the appointment of Lisa Planchard as Deputy City Clerk and Deputy Registrar of Voters.

they would do in such a case.

Residents, he said should ask themselves, "If this was the real thing, what would I do? The simple things like, who would do what, when and where. Do I need to evacuate? If so, where are you going? How long will it take to get ready? What do I need to bring?"

In Monday's briefing to area officials, Boudin said he's hopeful the exercise will have emergency preparedness to a level locally that there would be no need to have military assistance in the wake of a major hurricane.

"I want FEMA in here, writing checks. I don't want the military in here." Boudin said the Federal Emergency Management Agency would be represented in a disaster control center, along with officials of every state, county and federal agency needed to help in the relief and rebuilding effort.

Calling 10,000 troops into the county, he said, would be like calling for "10,000 problems."

"They take over and we lost control," said Boudin. "We don't want those people coming in here and telling us what to do. They make too many mistakes."

After the meeting, Boudin said Hancock County's two casinos plan to stay in place during a hurricane, with help of mooring systems that are designed to withstand winds of up to 155 miles per hour and a tidal surge of 15 feet.

But Jubilee, he said, is particularly vunerable in its location on the Gulf at the Lakeshore end of Beach Bouleyard. In a major hurricane, he said, "there won't be anything left of that ... If the wind doesn't get it, the water will."

Casino Magic, meanwhile, is anchored in Bay Cove Marina, off the Bay of St. Louis in a more sheltered location.

Other casinos structures moored on barges along the Mississippi Sound in Gulfport and Biloxi, Boudin predicted, will be ripped to shreds in high winds. Only the barges will be left in place, he added.

destroying other graves during the process," he said.

Toomer said the Pearlington Cemetery Association does some of the "things that need to be done" but petitioned the board for county help. Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise said "taking the responsibility (of upkeep) away from the family and putting it in government is not healthy. We are not equipped to handle it."

The board did agree to address the drainage problem plaguing the cemetery grounds.

In other matters, the board:

- Awarded $32,332 received from the sale of timber at the old ammo depot to the Hancock County School Board. The dollar amount represents 50 percent of the sale. The other half, by law, went to the Department of Roads and Bridges.

There was some discussion to split evenly the money earmarked for schools between the Bay-Waveland School District and the Hancock County School District. But the board voted unaminously to send the money to the county school district.

- Agreed to allocate $500 a month for October through December for Hope Haven, a volunteer group attempting to build a shelter to house abused and neglected children on a temporary basis. Board members agreed that such a facility is needed.

The money will be channeled through the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

- In another school matter, the board refused a school board request to build dykes around a storage tank at Gulfview Elementary School. Also, the board agreed to help the school system maintain driveways at schools but not the parking lots, which the school system had requested.

- Authorized County Engineer Larry Seal to advertise for bids for nearly $800,000 in road repair work.

- Adopted a resolution proclaiming April Child Abuse Awareness Month.

- Approved $4,060 for new bleachers and fence repairs at Necaise Park in Bay St. Louis.

Gamblers Anonymous to meet

Gamblers Anonymous will begin meeting at CPC Sand Hill Hospital in Gulport Thursday, April 13 at 7 p.m. The meeting will be facilitated by staff members and active participants in Gamblers Anonymous.

ordinances, which are not the same, a "dukes mixture of laws." He claimed Hancock County is the "last county on the coast that does not have a uniform leash law."

Gex said the proposed ordinance would require dog owners to leash their pets, with the exceptions being cats and hunting dogs.

He said an ordinance could be passed May 1, and put into effect 30 days later.

Waveland seeks community opinions

Mayor John Mason of Waveland has announced the distribution of a Community Opinion Survey through most Waveland churches last Sunday and urges the return of the completed survey this Sunday to residents' churches or City Hall, 301 Coleman Avenue.

Residents were asked to rate from excellent to poor areas of community planning and development, human relations and cultural enrichment, economic development, physical environment and community facilities and services.

They were also asked to list one project they thought would be the most beneficial to Waveland in the next five years.

"Residents' opinions of existing services or activities will give us clear indicators of what priority projects need to be addressed in our strategic plan, help us match available grant funds with projects citizens desire and provide demographic information that can be used in a variety of plans and projects," said the mayor.

"This survey will indicate areas where the public is willing to commit support. Having been in office only 90 days, the board is moving from 'putting out fires' to aggressively implementing several infrastructure improvement strategies. But, many of our new projects need to involve the community, not just affect them," continued the mayor.

Interested residents not receiving a survey through their church may pick a copy at at the City Hall Utility Department.

Blue ribbon month

Laurie Walters, Lisa Rodriquez and Lori Darkow, members of the board of directors for the Family Child Center, hang a blue ribbon on the Hancock County Courthouse. On Monday the Hancock County Board of Supervisors proclaimed April as child abuse prevention month. To heighten public awareness, the Family Child Center for the prevention of child abuse is placing blue ribbons around Hancock County. The Family Child Center is a United Way Agency. School personnel attend food seminar

Winning kids over to more healthful choices in school cafeterias is a common goal of school food service directors from around the state who gathered in Meridian March 28 for the Mississippi School food Service Association's (MSFSA) annual Nutrition Education Seminar.

Rhea Scafidi, Hancock County Schools food supervisor, Cynthia Ladner, administrative assistant and cafeteria managers Sylvia Acker, Lillian Ladner, Sandra Ladner, Velma Ladner and Myra Peterson attended the meeting, including the training session "Go for the Gold With Customer Service."

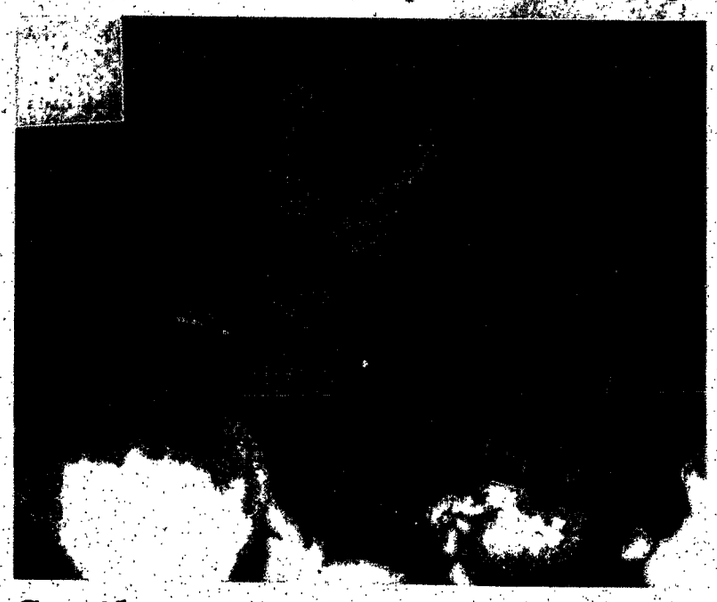

The session was presented by the National Food Service Management Institute (NFSMI), located at The University of Mississippi.

Developed by NFSMI to help train school food service personnel around the nation to meet the needs of school children, the training module incorporates video, handouts, posters, a handbook and lesson plans.

The unit, also designed for school food service managers to use for staff development on the local level, includes information on serving food at its peak of freshness, using marketing tools that appeal to school children and communicating effectively with students in the serving line, said Carolyn Hopkins, NFSMI's associate director of education and training and a seminar presenter.

Other seminar presenters were NFSMI members Dr. Jeanette Phillips, associate executive director, and Dr. Roy Maize, director of applied research.

MSFSA president Deborah Carr of the University of Southern Mississippi presided at the seminar meeting. Program chairman was Susan Killens of Meridian, who serves on the MSFSA Nutrition Education Committee, along with Carolyn Jenkins of Near Street in Jackson; Mary Alice Marsh of Houston; Rhea Scafidi of Waveland; and Clara Simpson of Cruger.

Southwestern Images

Students at Gulfview Elementary School were treated to a presentation of petroglyphs by Virginia artist Gwen Landry Impson. Petroglyphs, images carved or pecked into rock, represent the earliest form of Native American art. Impson has traveled extensively throughout the Southwest photographing the rocks, and has recreated the images through her paintings. Impson's works are on display through May 10 at Robard's Gallery in Bay St. Louis. The exhibit includes paintings, limo cut prints, monotypes and wearable art. She said the exhibit is dedicated to the memory of her father, J.B. Gelis, a long-time Clermont Harbor resident who passed away last fall. (Echo staff photo by Richard Meek)

Historical Society leaders

The Pass Christian Historical Society received an Award of Merit from the Mississippi Historical Society and the Mississippi Heritage Trust for acquisition and restoration of the 1905 Home Bank Building. Accepting the award were the officers and directors who are, seated from left, Mary Helen Schaeffer, Randall Jones, president; and Pat Mowry; top from left, John Ludenbacker, J.J. Hayden, Bob Doe, Dayton Robinson and Bill Kidd.

Pass Historical Society honored

The Pass Christian Historical Society has restored and maintained one of the most important buildings in the Scenic Drive Historical District's business area.

The Neo-Classical building, located at 203 East Scenic Drive, was built as the Home Bank of Pass Christian in 1905.

The bank lasted only five years. In 1920 the building was reopened as the Bank of Pass Christian.

A clipping from the Times Picayune dated December 9, 1929, stated the bank did not open for business on this date.

The president at that time was Lee M. Russell, former governor of Mississippi (1920-1924).

The Pass Christian Historical Society bought the building in 1988. Restoration has been ongoing since that time.

Currently the members are donating their time and funds to landscape the grounds. Volunteers keep the building open so the public can visit and get any needed research material.

The bank vault is steadily being stocked with historical information donated by interested people. The board of directors meets monthly to make plans for the future.

The members of the society have given extraordinary time and effort toward preserving history.

Through monthly programs and an ongoing collective effort to build a library on Mississippi history, the Pass Christian Historical Society is making the area aware of its heritage and the importance of preserving it.

League of Women Voters

The Gulf Coast Unit of the Mississippi League of Women Voters will meet Saturday, April 8 at 1 p.m. in the community room of the Pepsi Cola Plant on Dedeaux Road in Gulfport.

Plans will be discussed for an observer corps of members to visit city councils in the Gulf Coast communities.

A speakers' bureau to acquaint other organizations about the mission of LWV will also be developed at the meeting.

The meeting is open to the public. For details call 868-3015 or 466-4655.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Trout Vendome a la 'Count' Arnaud

I like to stray from the ordinary paths of cuisine from time to time, adding or subtracting whatever ingredients suit my mood when I'm cooking, an attitude which I shared for many years with the late, fabled "Count" Arnaud of Arnaud's restaurant in New Orleans.

The count, who had come from France to New Orleans as a champagne salesman, and had earned his title of "count" as a result of his impeccable manners and such, liked to try variations on the theme established of classic French cuisine.

He scorned the beaten paths and dictums such as "white wine only with fish, red wine only with meats," and from these methods came many a delectable Arnaud specialty.

Such as one of my favorites through the years, the count's "Truite Vendome" — Trout Vendome" — sauced, not with the customary white wine for fish, but with a full-bodied Burgundy, which makes a grand sauce for the trout fillets. To serve four diners, Count Arnaud's style:

TRUITE VENDOME
(Trout Vendome)

1 trout (2 lbs.) boned, skinned, filleted (cut into 4 pieces) or 4 fillets of trout
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/2 lb. crabmeat
1/2 lb. chopped boiled shrimp
3 to 4 tsp. chopped chives or 2 tsp. chopped green onions
1/4 lb. fresh mushrooms
1 stick butter or margarine
2 to 3 oz. Burgundy wine
Small, boiled potatoes

Simmer trout fillets in a little water, seasoned with the lemon juice for 15 minutes. Keep the trout warm on a platter while you saute the crabmeat and shrimp in the butter or margarine, along with the chives or green onions, the mushrooms and salt and pepper to your taste, stirring as you cook for 10 minutes or so.

Splash a good glug-glug of Burgundy over the mixture and simmer for 5 minutes as it thickens a bit. Pour the sauce over the trout and serve, along with the tiny boiled potatoes, unadorned in French style.

Incidentally, the last time I decided to cook this dish, there wasn't a flake of crabmeat on hand, and only a few shrimp. But, the trout was still tasty in its wine sauce without the crab or shrimp. I think I'll try crawfish tails next time!

Bay native featured in New Orleans paper

Scott A. Evans, a former resident of Bay St. Louis and graduate of Bay High School, was recently featured in the New Orleans City Business Newspaper.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Evans Jr. of Bay St. Louis. He has a degree in business from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Evans is owner of Evans Travel Group, Inc., and was the fastest growing private company in New Orleans during 1994 and ranked 69th among the top companies of the city.

The article reports that Evans' travel agency increased sales from $5.5 million in 1991 to $31 million last year.

The article reports that Evans' interest in the travel business came about in 1986 when he and four partners bought a struggling travel agency in downtown New Orleans.

Evans ran the company on a part-time basis for several years before buying out his partners in 1990 and setting out to turn a small-time operation into something more.

His company specializes in booking corporate trips, and the firm has become a master of negotiating discounts, the business newspaper reports.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

How little it costs if we give a thought to make some heart happy each day.

Just one kind word or a tender smile, as we go on our daily way.

Perhaps a look will suffice to clear the cloud from a neighbor's face; and a press of the hand in sympathy a sorrowful tear efface.

It costs so little, I wonder why we give it so little thought.

A smile, kind words, a glance, a touch, what magic by them is wrought.

Weave a little magic, love one another, and have a beautiful week.

Bay St. Louis area host families needed for foreign students

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive in the Bay St. Louis area for academic program homestays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE) executive director John Doty, the students are between ages 15-18, are English-speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families.

PIE currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

Families who host for PIE are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

PIE has students from Spain, Germany, Poland, Russia, Finland, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Australia, New Zealand, Croatia and many other countries.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately, as it will allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet for the first time.

Bay St. Louis area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call PIE toll-free at 1-800-631-1818.

The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students.

PRCC's $125,000 Endowment Challenge grant in the bag

Pearl River Community College has met its $125,000 Endowment Challenge. Lacking only $2,000 at 8 a.m. Friday, the last day to contribute, the college Administrative Council accepted a challenge from the Pearl River Community College Faculty Association.

By noon Friday, the goal was met and PRCC was assured to receive another $250,000 from the United States Department of Education.

Last fall, PRCC was the only junior college in the nation to receive a National Endowment Challenge Grant. The grant called for the college to raise $125,000 by April 1 and at that time the Department of Education would kick in twice that amount, or $250,000.

PRCC now has more than $500,000 toward its 1998 $1 million endowment goal.

"A wonderful accomplishment, a great victory for Pearl River Community College," said President Ted Alexander, who was speaking on behalf of the PRCC Board of Trustees and Development Foundation Board.

"It is difficult for us to find the right words to express our heartfelt appreciation to the many individuals, businesses, health-related organizations, faculty, staff and administrators, all of whom certainly played a great role in assisting us in meeting this significant challenge," said Alexander.

Alexander said the event is more meaningful by the fact that all of the dollars raised were above and beyond, separate and apart, from proceeds received from the college's annual River Extravaganza.

The March 5 Extravaganza raised more than $50,000. Net proceeds form that event can now be used to fund student scholarships and teacher enhancement grants and assist in reaching the foundation's annual $200,000 goal.

Since 1987, the PRCC Development Foundation has raised more than $1.67 million in cash and $450,000 in land donations. Overall the foundation has passed the $2 million mark raised from private sources.

MEC announces Bay STAR Student/Teacher

Christopher D. Boston has been named as a STAR (Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition) Student for the 1994-95 school year by the Mississippi Economic Council, sponsor of the program.

The Bay High School senior will be honored during the Education Celebration portion of MEC's annual membership meeting April 13 in Jackson.

Boston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Boston of Bay St. Louis.

Star Students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. American College Test scores and scholastic averages are considered in designation of the school's Star Student, explained Bob Pittman of Jackson, MEC president.

Boston's honors and activities include varsity soccer, varsity tennis, member of the National Honor Society, Student Council vice president; Student Council president, member of the French Club, sophomore class treausrer; member of Natural Helpers, Who's Who Among American High School Students, student representative and Kiwanis Club Youth of the Week.

Each Star Student is asked to designate a Star Teacher, the classroom teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement.

Mrs. Janet C. Young of Long Beach, a teacher for 30 years, was designated Star Teacher.

She is presently instructor of chemistry and physics at Bay High School.

Colleges attended and degrees earned include: USM-M.Ed., Radfor College-B.S., Wesleyan University, University of Maryland and William Carey College.

She was selected Star Teacher in 1982, 1983 and 1992.

All 300-plus Star Students and their Star Teachers will receive recognition from the Council; and the top Star Students, named All-Star Scholars, and their Star Teachers will be presented scholarship awards. The highlight of the education celebration will be the naming of the Mississippi Star Student and Star Teacher.

Scholarship funding and program support are provided by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian, Tennessee Valley Authority Community Partnerships and Sanderson Farms Inc. of Laurel.

Research lab receives grant for striped bass

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has awarded $37,500 to the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs for its ongoing striped bass restoration program in Mississippi's coastal tributaries.

The project is also supported by the National Marine Fisheries Service.

The Laboratory is preparing its intensive culture rearing system for the anticipated arrival of approximately 500,000 larval striped bass in early April.

Last spring, approximately 674,300 larval striped bass were obtained from Alabama's Marion Fish Hatchery, and nearly 184,000 survived to become Phase I fingerlings. Nearly 161,000 of the two-inch Phase I fingerlings were released into the Pascagoula and Pearl rivers in mid-July, while about 23,000 were retained for further growth before release.

Last November, over 16,000 Phase I striped bass averaging six inches long were tagged and released into the Pascagoula and Pearl rivers.

In the early 1960s, the striped bass population in the Gulf states declined to the extent that a commercial fishery could not be sustained, and the sport fishery was drastically reduced or eliminated. Possible reasons for the population decline include overfishing, environmental alterations such as water control structures and extensive channelization and pollution from urban agricultural and industrial development.

The five Gulf states intitated an extensive striped bass restocking effort in the late 1960s which has reestablished a recreational fishery by introducing over 100 million striped bass into coastal rivers. Since GCRL began its striped bass rearing and stocking program in 1967, over 12 million striped bass have been released into the tributaries of the Mississippi Sound.

Tag returns indicate that the fish are surviving and growing well in Mississippi's coastal rivers and streams. However, the established striped bass populations do not appear to be self-sustaining, and reproduction has yet to be documented in Mississippi.

Project personnel encourage anglers to call the Laboratory collect at (601) 872-4200 when they catch a stiper, whether tagged or not, to report the length, weight and location of the catch. The information will assist researchers in monitoring the success of stocking efforts.

Area athletes and citizen honored by National Football Foundation

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame honored student-athletes and significant contributing citizens.

The honors were not bestowed simply for their on-field actions, but also for their performance in the classroom and the community.

The Broadwater Beach Resort in Biloxi was the site for the 7 p.m. banquet held Wednesday, April 5.

Student athletes from Harrison, Hancock, Jackson, George, Stone and Pearl River counties were honored.

The athletes from the area include Nathan Middleton of St. Stanislaus, Bradley Perniciaro of Hancock High School and Brian Wilson of Pass Christian. Leo W. Seal, Jr., received the Award of Merit.

Nathan Middleton has played numerous positions for the Rocks during his four years on the varsity team. This past season he was the Rock signal caller and led the Coast in TD passes with 15. Middleton has scored a 21 on his ACT and has a GPA of 3.67. He is also a member of numerous school and community organizations and plans to study sports medicine.

Bradley Perniciaro was a member of the Hancock Hawks football team for three years. He has scored a 26 on his ACT and maintains a 95.61 GPA. He was named to the All-Division 8 and All-Gulf Coast teams while being a member of numerous school organizations. He plans to study medicine in college.

Brian Wilson has been a member of the Pirate football team for three years. He has scored a 25 on his ACT and maintained a 3.5 GPA at Pass Christian. Wilson participates in the Beta Club, and Mu Alpha Theta and plans to study criminal justice in college.

Leo W. Seal, Jr. is a native of Bay St. Louis and is presently the chairman and chief executive officer of Hancock Bank in Gulfport. The Award of Merit honored a person in the six-county area who has demonstrated incredible enthusiasm in his profession. Seal has received numerous awards in past years among those the 1994 Citizen of the Year Award given by the Gulfport Rotary Club.

Moran earns All-American status

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

St. Stanislaus senior Vince Moran is from Lakeshore, Mississippi, so what is he doing in Syracuse, New York!

Moran is not your typical senior in high school, he can fly.

Moran soars seven feet in the air and gracefully rolls his body over a suspended bar. Moran does the high jump for the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw track team not to mention a few other events that he is getting good at.

Moran was invited to participate in the Scholastic National Indoor High School Meet at Syracuse University. He and Rico Griffin from Gulfport were the only Mississippians in the field of participants.

Moran jumped 6-10 without missing to place third in the prestigious national event. The winning jump was 7-2 and the second place finisher was 7-0. With a third place finish, Moran became a High School Indoor All-American. The first time any SSC athlete has been bestowed that distinction in recent history.

Moran has been hovering around the seven foot mark since late last year when he went 6-11 at the South State meet in Gulfport. On his attempt at 7-0, his heel clipped the bar and pulled it off the stand.

Coach Larry Ramsey on his star jumper, "Vince had a good year last year, especially over at Gulfport. He came so close but his heel got in the way. He knows what he has to do and is putting in the hard work for it this year."

Moran has been jumping since the eighth grade following Gene Moran, his older brother, who was a jumper for SSC.

Ramsey recalls, "At the end of 8th grade, Vince was doing 6-1. By that time next year, he was clearing 6-6. He is one of the best I've ever had."

Ramsey has had some good ones in recent years. Namely, Chris Reisch who is a record-setting sprinter for the University of Mississippi. Also, Brian Brooks who won three state titles in one day at the state meet in 1991.

Moran has added two hurdle events to his repertoire. He competes in the 110m high hurdles and the 300m intermediate hurdles. Moran has broken the 110m hurdle record twice this season already with a time of 15.3s. That record formerly owned by yours truly and younger brother Bryce Gex.

Ramsey states, "With Vince going this well in the early season, he should peak right at crunch time. I think he can only get better in the hurdles."

Moran will be attempting to become only the second high schooler to clear the seven foot barrier in Mississippi. The first person was Paul Davis of T.L. Weston in 1988.

Phi Theta Kappa

Hancock County residents were among 32 students to be initiated into the Phi Theta Kappa honor society at Pearl River Community College. New honor society members for the spring semester at PRCC are, from left, Wendy Leigh Kingston, Waveland; Laura Felder, Waveland; Louis Mathern, Kiln; Wendy Lee, Picayune; and Patricia Taylor, Waveland.

Interior renovations underway at Ole Miss

The Alumni Center on The University of Mississippi's Oxford campus is undergoing its first renovation since it was constructed some four decades ago.

The project's first phase — which includes renovating motel rooms, lobbies and hallways; alumni staff offices; and the computer center — will cost an estimated $2.3 million.

Gifts and pledges secured from only 2 percent of the University's alumni have garnered $2,150,000 of the goal, but an additional $150,000 is needed to complete Phase I, which is scheduled to be finished Aug. 15.

However, the acquisition and installation of new furnishings may be delayed because of pledges scheduled to be paid over several years — a basic cash-flow problem.

Alumni Association President Bryan Barksdale urged those who have made a pledge to follow through with their promise expeditiously.

All donations to the Alumni Center Challenge are tax-deductible. For information, call Herb Dewees, executive director of Alumni Affairs, or another staff member at (601) 232-7251 or 234-4764.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Crabby people

It's time to go fishin' y'all.

The fishing' buddies might have noticed there have not been many fishing reports over the past few weeks. By now you should have guessed the fishing has been slow, slower, slowest. Other than that the fishing has been lousy. To add insult to injury, the Turtle has been just plain lazy.

Now that we have all of the excuses out of the way, let's talk about some of the things that have been going on. First of all, for all of those crabby people out there, you might wanna know that crabs are now being caught along the seawall.

As long as the subject of crabs has been brought up, maybe this is the time to tell ya' the law is still the same about the size of crabs you can keep. In case y'all forgot the only crabs you can keep are the ones that measure at least 5 inches form point to point of their shell.

Ya' gotta throw the ones smaller than 5 inches point to point back in the water so they can grow bigger for next time.

Besides, there is almost no meat in crabs that are smaller than 5 inches point to point, so why bother keeping them anyway.

As long as we are on the subject of crabs — for the second time — you might notice that most of the crabs you are catching right now are male crabs. You can tell they are male crabs by looking on their white underside. The flap in the middle of the male crab's belly will be long and narrow, while the falp on the female crabs' belly will be wide throughout most of its length.

Anyway, the reason for telling y'all this information is to tell ya' male crabs like fresh to low salinity water. Spring is usually the time the male crabs come out of the low-salt-content water in the marshes to start looking for the female crabs that have spent most of the winter in the higher salt concentration waters of the Sound. That is why you catch male crabs in the early part of the year, and the catch becomes mixed as the season goes along. Man, now you know some stuff.

Moving back to the fishing scene, I received a few reports about a week ago of trout and reds being caught out in the Louisiana Marsh and the Pfifer Key area. Nothing lately.

I received a few reports of some very early morning trout being caught in the surf at both Buccaneer Park and the area around Munroe's Pier. The bait that was the most productive was reported to be the white plastic cacaho.

The regulatory scene has been red hot lately. In fact the Department of Marine Resources meeting held March 21 was more entertaining than any fishing trip made lately.

The gill net issue was discussed at this meeting, with law enforcement saying the current gill net ordinance DMR is wanting to adopt is a law enforcement nightmare.

Law enforcement felt the ordinance should at least make the banned distances from the shoreline the same 24 hours a day. The ecology commissioner, who proposed the ordinance, disagreed saying the commercial fishermen were promised this ordinance, and he could not go back on his promise.

Chairman Muths pleaded for some consistency on the gill net ordinance saying "the gill net issue will not go away." He vowed to keep bringing up the issue until consistency and credibility can be obtained on the issue. Commissioner William Mitchell stated, "The gill net issue will stay as it is."

The discussion of gill nets ended with Chairman Muths stating, "Mississippi doesn't have to worry about being last, Mississippi will always be that way."

His frustration was evident.

DMR approved Ordinance 7.015, which will prohibit all commercial fishing activity north of the CSX railroad bridges. There was discussion as to if oyster harvesting or crabbing would still be allowed, so if you are going to engage in those activities north of the CSX railroad bridges you should check with DMR.

National Park Service representative Mark Louis talked briefly about how NPS felt fisheries stocks are down in the Gulf. The NPS feels according to federal law commercial fishing should not be allowed in national parks.

Since DMR has done nothing to stop commercial fishing by the Gulf Islands National Park, federal enforcement of a ban might be forthcoming.

With the information given by the NPS in mind DMR decided to once again hold public hearings on a ban of all commercial fishing activity, including gill netting within one mile of the Gulf Islands National Parks.

Commissioner Sahuque has once again demonstrated his concern for and his depth of knowledge of the seafood industry. He expressed concern that bib trawls are causing a dramatic depletion of white shrimp. The has proposed a public hearing for the purpose of disallowing the use of bib trawls during the brown shrimp season.

Commissioner Oliver Sahuque explained that bib trawls sweep the entire water column and catch a high percentage of egg-carrying white shrimp. This means the white shrimp are not allowed to lay their eggs, thus ensuring the decline of the fall white shrimp harvest. The public is fortunate indeed to have a commissioner of Mr. Sahuque's far-seeing abilities on the DMR Commission.

This week's wonderful wise words: Don't despair, good fishing is real close ya' hear.

Do crabby people turn red when cooked, Turtle?

Undefeated champs

BUI Bill one step from law

Mississippi is a signature away from finally passing a Boating Under the Influence (BUI) law. The Mississippi legislature has sent Senate Bill 2872 to the governor, which, once signed, would go into effect July 1.

Presently Mississippi is the only state in the union without some form of a BUI law.

The law, which would be enforceable on all marine waters in the state and all public lakes, would be applicable on watercraft with a 25 or more horsepower motor and the boat would have to be in operation and moving.

The law also has a provision that would pertain to jet skis and similar craft.

Another bill of importance to sportsmen, which has also been sent to the governor, is Senate Bill 2059. The bill changes the current bag limit to three bucks and five does with hunters not allowed to take any bucks with fewer than four antler points.

The limit can rise to seven does if two or more are harvested by archery equipment. It also allows for hunters to fill their deer management anterless tags without those deer counting against the annual limits.

Senator Lynn Posey, D-Union, chairman of the Wildlife & Fisheries Committee, says he is pleased with the final bill. "I really do think it is a statewide deer management plan. It may not be what everybody wants, but I believe everyone who studies the issue knows what needs to be done."

PRCC sweeps Southwest, stays in hunt for title

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Pearl River Community College baseball team stayed in the hunt for a South Division title with a sweep of the Southwest Bears on Sunday, April 2. The Cats defeated the Bears 6-4 and 7-0 in the doubleheader. Over the past week and a half, the Cats have swept East Central, Southwest and split with Gulf Coast and Hinds.

Coach Jim Nightengale said the competition is as tough this year as he has ever seen it. Nightengale has led his team to the playoffs six of the last seven years.

He continued, "Every division game is important. The outcome of the division may not be decided until the last games are played."

Chad Britt of Hattiesburg recorded the win for the Cats in the first game against Southwest. Lumberton's Bert White threw a two-hitter in the 7-0 shutout of the Bears.

Waveland's Adam Breerwood tallied his fourth dinger of the year, while Bay St. Louis' John Bishop hit his second dinger of the year.

The top two teams from the North and South divisions will play for the state title. The South winner will host the tourney this year.

Rocks shut out PRC 11-0

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw baseball team recorded an 11-0 shutout of Division 8 Class 4A foe Pearl River Central on Saturday, April 1. In the contest, a bit of history was recorded as junior Rock pitcher Casey Heitzmann pitched a no-hitter against the Blue Devils.

That is history in itself, for SSC has not pitched a no-hitter in recent years. The no-hitter caps a four-game win streak in district competition for the Rocks.

SSC jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning. The Rocks exploded for four runs in the third inning and had three runners cross the plate in the fifth and seventh innings.

Matt Helms led the Rocks at the plate with three hits and four RBI. Helms hit a triple and two doubles at the plate. David Manasco tallied 2 RBI for the Rocks.

With the win the Rocks up their record to 8-7 overall and 4-4 in the district.

Tigers pounce on Warriors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Bay High Tiger baseball team inched closer to the Division 8 Class 4A leader Long Beach Bearcats with a 14-7 win over the visiting D'Iberville Warriors on Tuesday, April 4.

The Tigers scored five runs in the first inning as they saw 10 batters go to the plate.

Marc Dupuy upped his record to 6-2 on the season with the win. Wali Shabazz went 3 for 5 and had a double. Luke Weems, Casey Weems, and Raleigh Murphy each went 2 for 5. Marc Dupuy had 3 RBI, Raleigh Murphy and Jonathan Favre had 2 RBI while Luke Weems, Sammy Green, and Jon Farve had 1 RBI for the Tigers.

With the win, the Tigers improve to 9-3 overall and 5-1 in the district.

Rocks stung by Yellow Jackets

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw baseball team dropped a district game to the homestanding St. Martin Yellow Jackets on Tuesday, April 4 by the score of 6-3.

The Rocks and the Yellow Jackets each scored a run in the first and remained scoreless till the third inning. St. Martin edged ahead 3-1 in the bottom of the third.

The Rocks came back to tie the game in the fourth with a Matt Helms two-run dinger over the leftfield fence.

Then St. Martin went ahead for the final time in the bottom of the fourth inning with three more runs to make the score 6-3.

As a team the Rocks had 10 hits with Correy Gex leading the way going 3 for 4 at the plate.

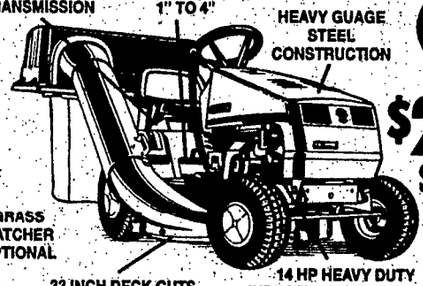

Trevor Speed was 2 for 3 while Jeremy Penton, Dennis Knight, Matt Helms, and David Manasco each went 1 for 3. Matt Helms had 2 RBI while Trevor Speed had 1 RBI on the night.

The loss dropped the Rocks' record to 8-8 overall and 3-5 in the division.
